

ISABEL GARCIA

Isabel was born in Queens, grew up in Miami, and now resides in Austin. She is a proud Spanish and German mut mix, fluent in German, and still studying Spanish.

Her debut narrative trilogy, The Red Flag Diaries - Love / Loss / Life, is a cleverly disguised and modern approach to self-help, aptly described as Sex in the City meets Bridget Jones's Diary narrated a la Jenny Lawson. The collection of books, blog, and swag showcases hilarious stories and practical advice about love, loss, and life.

Isabel is the founder of Double Click Trainers, a corporate computer training company offering training to businesses around the world since 1999. She has trained audiences of all sizes, and develops curriculum, training videos, and proprietary systems training.

She is also the founder of Laughing Out Loud Productions, a corporate entertainment and event company since 2003. She is the current co-star and executive producer of a weekly online comedy, The Flora & Fauna Show. As an actress, she was represented by Acclaim Talent with past credits including local theater, improv, independent films, voiceovers, and industrials.

Isabel is a writer, public speaker, technology facilitator, entertainer, web designer, amateur photographer, animal lover, outdoor enthusiast, and volunteer. She's been married, divorced, in love and out, been hurt and has hurt, and has survived all of the above. "I believe the best way to love is to simply try. If you want to heal, open your heart and if you want to change, change your mind."

LOVE, the first book in the series, exposes hilarious yet poignant stories about men, women, and the universal desire for love. Our heroine, Olivia Marquez, shares advice based on her madcap romances, occasional oopsies, and loves of a lifetime. This voyeuristic peek of relationship realities will have you believing in love no matter what life throws your way!
